Eurodrive Gearbox Obsolescence

Reference #039

The Eurodrive SA32 thru SA92 series gearboxes used on many existing Glasstech systems are now obsolete and generally can not be supplied as replacement parts. This change by the manufacturer has made the existing Glasstech gearbox mounts obsolete. Gearbox replacement with alternative gearboxes and / or maintenance should take this fact into account.

Additionally, there may be overall length differences and differences in the center-of-input to output dimensions. This may necessitate minor re-design of the original motor mounts. These changes may require the existing mounts to be either re-drilled or relocated, and motor mount shims to be either added or removed depending on the gearbox style and type of installation.

Glasstech can supply the required engineering and gearbox recommendations for all needed gearbox maintenance spare parts and replacement units.

Please contact Glasstech with any specific inquiries you may have on this subject, using the contact information at the top of this page.
